Dear colleagues,

We are pleased to invite you to join the "EPA-UNEPSA 4U Interactive Education Conference" series, a joint initiative of the European Pediatrics Association and the Union of National European Pediatric Societies and Associations (EPA/UNEPSA, Berlin, Germany), in collaboration with the scientific journal Global Pediatrics, published by Elsevier, London, which endorses this educational initiative.

This conference introduces a new concept and approach to teaching and learning on a specific topic. The selected topic for 2025 is "Allergy and Atopic Dermatitis." The primary objective is to offer a practical approach to the relationship between allergic diseases and atopic dermatitis, considering perspectives from dermatology, allergology, nutrition, and psychology. The latest advances in pathophysiology will pave the way for new preventive strategies and treatments. Our goal is to provide clinical evidence and practical education to primary care pediatricians through lectures, Q&A sessions, masterclasses, and hands-on workshops, using a methodology that supports interactive learning.

We are excited to share our vision of a new approach to medical education in pediatrics, and we invite you to join us in this educational challenge.

Welcome to the conference!
